

MENOPAUSE MANAGEMENT

Women's Health Through Midlife & Beyond

Complete References for Menopause Management Vol. 17, No. 2

Letter to the Editor, Michael Goodman, Page 11

References

1. Geweke, LO. Menopause and migraine. Menopause Management 2007;16:13-21.
2. MacGregor EA, Hackshaw A. Prevalence of migraine on each day of the menstrual cycle. Neurology 2004;63:351-53.
3. Somerville BW. The role of estrogen withdrawal in the etiology of menstrual related migraine. Neurology 1972;22:355-65.
4. Silberstein SD, Goldberg J. Menstrually related migraine. J Repro Med 2007; 5:888-95.
5. Somerville BW. The role of progesterone in menstrual migraine. Neurology 1971;21:853-59.
6. MacGregor EA. Oestrogen and attacks of migraine with and without aura. Lancet Neurol 2004;3:354-61.
7. deLignieres D, Vincens M, Mauvais-Jarvis T, et al. Prevention of menstrual migraine by percutaneous oestradiol [abstract]. BM J (Clinical Research edition) 1986;293:1540
8. Dennerstein L, Morse C, Burrows G, et al. Menstrual migraine: a double-blind trial of percutaneous estradiol. Gynecol Endocrinol 1988;2:113-20.
9. Goldstein J. Migraine headaches in menopause – how sleep deprivation and hormonal changes play havoc with the menopausal woman. San Francisco Medical Society Magazine Bulletin, February 13, 2006.
10. Fettes I. Migraine in the menopause. Neurology 1999;53(4 suppl.):529-33.
11. Levy M, Goadsly P. Migraine in menopause and beyond. Menopause Management 2003;12:26.
12. Pradalier A, Vincent D, Beaulieu TH, et al. Correlation between estradiol plasma level and therapeutic effect on menstrual migraine. In: Clifford RS, ed. New advances in headache research. London: Smith/Gordon;1944:129-132.
13. Silberstein SD, Merriam GR. Sex hormones and headache. J Pain Symptom Manage 1993;8:98-114.
14. MacGregor EA. Migraine and menopause. J Br Menopause Soc 2006;12:104-8.
15. Aegidius KL, Zwart JA, Hagen K, et al. Hormone replacement therapy and headache prevalence in postmenopausal women. The Head-HUNT study. Eur J Neurol 2007;14:73-8.
16. Loder E, Rizzoli P, Golub J. Hormonal management of migraine associated with menses and menopause: a clinical review. Headache 2007;47:329-40.

Letter to the Editor, Lynn O. Geweke, Page 11

Reference

1. Loder E, Rizzoli P, Golub J. Hormonal management of migraine associated with menses and menopause: a clinical review. Headache 2007;47:329-40.